Preference poll results

Understanding that the majority of the voting public has never been inside a courtroom or appeared before a judge, the Columbus Bar developed its judicial polls over thirty years ago, not as any kind of endorsement of candidates, but to provide merit-based, non-partisan information to voters about judicial candidates. To that end, we are republishing the poll results in advance of next Tuesday's election.

Polling ballots were sent to more than 7,000 attorneys in Franklin County. Respondents were asked to indicate which candidate they preferred. Of the twelve judicial races being decided on Nov. 7 in Franklin County, nine are contested.

A letter accompanying the ballot requested that attorneys without "sufficient current knowledge or information about the candidates" abstain from voting in the poll. Hausser + Taylor, Certified Public Accountants, tabulated the 1,461 returned surveys.

Bankruptcy means test workshop

One of the most controversial and complicated additions to the new bankruptcy law is the requirement that every debtor complete a bankruptcy means test before filing bankruptcy. The bankruptcy means test is a complicated mathematical calculation to determine what type of bankruptcy a debtor must file. There are several parts to the bankruptcy means test that must be completed using figures established by the U.S. Census Bureau and the IRS. Debtors and their counsel must provide the calculation and results of the bankruptcy means test to the bankruptcy court as a part of the debtor's schedule of current income and expenditures.

Consumer bankruptcy practitioners will receive help in the accurate completion of the means test on Friday, Nov. 17 from 1:30 to 4:45 p.m. with a comprehensive, intermediate-level course, "Bankruptcy Means Test Workshop." Presenters MaryAnne Wilsbacher of the Office of the U. S. Trustee, Columbus; John W. Kennedy of the Office of the Chapter 13 Trustee, Columbus; and attorney Judith M. McInturff will walk practitioners through this complicated calculation.

Practitioners will receive help regarding the timing of filing, the cross-check of financial data, income classifications, application of 707(b) (7) and calculation of CMI, expenses, taxes, future and past due payments on claims, as well as administrative expenses.

Enhance your working knowledge for the means test by registering online at www.cbalaw.org or phoning 614/221.4112 for event # 3654. The cost is $85 prepaid/$95 day of for members, $125 prepaid/$135 day of for non-members and $55 prepaid/$65 day of for paralegals.
